Vol. IV. QU'APPELLE, N.W.T., FRIDAY, JULY 19, 1889. No. 38.

Orange Day.

Enthusiastic Gathering at Wolseley.

On Friday last, the 12th of July, the anniversary of the battle of the Boyne, won by King William, of "Glorious, Pious and Immortal Memory," was enthusiastically celebrated at Wolseley. The following Lodges were in attendance:

L. O. L. No. 1525, Summerbury; Saml. Fleming, Master, and R. S. Ennis, Deputy Master.

L. O. L. No. 1559, Maple Green; (names of officers not obtained.)

About 10.30 the members of the Order assembled at the Wolseley Orange hall and shortly after formed in procession and paraded the streets of the town to the music of their fife and drums bands till noon when the parade dispersed for dinner. At 14 o'clock the procession was reformed and marched to the Orange Hall where a public meeting was organized with Mr. Thos. Fleming as chairman.

Including the members of the Order, their families and friends, there were about five hundred people present. All could not find accomodation in the hall, and many stood at the open windows listening to the addresses.

Rev. W. H. Thompson was the first to address those assembled. He spoke very acceptably on the influence and power of a free press, the importance of education, and the support given by the pulpit to all good causes.

Mr. B. P. Richardson, member of the Northwest Legislature for the Wolseley district, made an excellent speech and gave no uncertain sound on Jesuit and French agression.

Mr. James Weidman, of THE QU'APPELLE PROGRESS, was then called to the platform and made a short speech appropriate to the occasion.

Hon. Senator Perley was the last speaker. Among other subjects he referred to desirability of having no separate Schools and only one official language in the Northwest Territories. His remarks were well received.

The procession was again reformed and made another parade of the town to the public square opposite the railway station. There three cheers were given for the Queen, William of Orange, and with a tiger for "the noble thirteen," (the members of Parliament who voted for the disallowance of Jesuit Estates Act.)

The crowd then dispersed to their various homes in the district, after one of the most enthusiastic and successful Orange demonstrations ever held in the Northwest.

BATTLEFORD.

Saskatchewan Herald.

—The Mounted Police are calling for tenders for a supply of 250 tons of hay for the Battleford post, and 35 tons for Onion Lake. Tenders to be for lots of fifty tons or upwards, and will be received up to the 24th inst. A deposit equal to ten per cent of the contract must accompany each tender as security for the performance of the undertaking.

—At the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, Toronto, Prof. Scrimger reported on the Nisbet Academy, Prince Albert. The report recommends the payment of $500 from the Home Mission fund, and $200 from the Foreign Mission fund and $200 from the French Evangelization fund, for the use of the institution. The recommendation was adopted.

The North-West.

News Culled for the Progress by our own correspondents.

MOOSOMIN.

—The Roman Catholics of this district are to erect a church in this town.

—Work has commenced on the new Methodist church and will be pushed rapidly.

—Sheriff Murphy has settled down to the duties of his office. He bids fair to become a deservedly popular citizen.

—Messrs. Balison and Fleming have laid the foundation of a substantial building on the corner of Main street and Windover avenue. The lower part of which will be used as a skating rink and the upper for society halls and offices.

—Friend Beer, of The Courier, has also issued an advertisement calling for tenders for the erection of a "lumber church." In view of his recent editorials on the liquor question there is considerable speculation as to the character of the church he is about to erect.

—A farmer named Atkins has lost four horses recently under circumstances which are somewhat suspicious. It is supposed they were poisoned. The matter was brought before the directors of the agricultural society at a recent meeting and will be full investigated.

—The victory of William III at the Boyne was duly celebrated here on the 12th, the brethren parading with banners and headed by the Moosomin brass band. The procession presented a very imposing appearance. Every available balcony and window was occupied by admiring spectators along the course of the procession. Mr. John Young gave the speech of the day, referring to the Jesuit Estate Act and charging politicians with using the society for the furtherance of private ends. Mr. J. R. Neff, M.L.A., and others gave brief addresses.

WAPELLA.

—All the town is attending the Orange picnic at John Burke's.

—The evidence in the Schmidt vs Smith, tried before His Honor Judge Wetmore was very much in favor of the defendant.

—R. Ireland was arrested on Friday last at the instance of A. E. Garner, who alleges that R. I. set his dog on his (Garner's) sheep and did kill six.

—Norman Rowell, whilst returning from taking Mr. Blake's trunk home on Sunday, narrowly escaped death. One of the wheels broke off from the axle as the boy was driving down hill. Norman was thrown out of the buckboard and the wheels passed over him, only injuring him slightly. The horse galloped down the hill and left the hind part of the wagon in the ravine, and then made for the railway with one wheel and the shafts.

YORKTON.

—Business here is very dull at present chiefly owing to the discouraging crop outlook.

—Timers are looking anxiously about them for the hay supply to serve durin the coming winter.

—Rev. W. Adamson, Methodist minister, preached his farewell sermon to a large gathering of people on Sunday afternoon. He is to be stationed in Southern Manitoba. Mr. Adamson has been an active worker and will be missed very much.

REGINA.

—Mrs. James is erecting a large house on South Railway street west which, when completed, she will occupy as a boarding house.

—A very exciting game and close game of cricket was played here on the 14th inst., between the town team and an eleven from Pense. Regina won by one run.

—Rev. Mr. Harrison, the new pastor of the Methodist church, and family, arrived on Saturday morning. A committee of the congregation met them at the train.

—Wm. Gilbert, of Smith & Ferguson, received the sad intelligence on Monday of the drowning of a twelve year old brother in the Saugeen river, at Southampton, Ont.

—Mr. J. A. W. York, professor of mathematics in the Mount Forest Business college, London Ont., is here visiting his uncle, Mr. L. C. York, of the C. P. R. office. Mr. York is spending a year's vacation.

—Mr. Alex. Graham, wife and three children, of New Zealand, arrived here on Saturday last from Edinburgh. Mrs. Graham is a daughter of Mr. P. McAra, whom they are visiting. They sail on the 28th from Vancouver for their home in the Antipodes.

—The Mounted Police brass band paraded the streets on Thursday afternoon, the 11th inst. They were seventeen strong, on horseback, and with their red coats and brightly polished instruments, presented a brilliant appearance. The sweet strains of music drew all the citizens forth to view them.

—Warren H. Pringle died Monday morning at the age of 41 years. He was a widely known and highly esteemed pioneer citizen of Regina. He had been in poor health for two or three years. He has occupied several public positions, and at the time of his death was secretary of the Regina school board and also agent for the Manufacturers Assurance Co. He leaves a wife and two children. The Masonic body of which he was a member, will conduct the funeral obsequies.

—A Scotchman named Cameron, from the Bluffs, was brought to town Monday morning and taken to Smith's hotel, having his head badly mutilated. He had been picked up on the road in an unconscious state. He deposes that parties, whom he named, waylaid him clubbed him and left him for dead. A warrant was issued for the arrest of the parties implicated and a detachment of police left the barracks to execute it. Cameron declines to say much but it is thought the affair is the outcome of a grudge held against him.

—Richard Temple, an English lad about seventeen, was drowned on Monday afternoon in the reservoir. He was employed by Mr. Brooker, milk merchant, herding cattle. He was seen by parties half a mile distant to ride into the water after the cattle, and shortly after the pony came out alone. He had got out of his depth and fallen off. The river bed was immediately searched, and the body recovered. He was one of Dr. Barnado's boys, and came to the town this spring. He bore a good character, and was well liked. This is the first drowning mishap that has occurred here.

CALGARY.

—The jury in the Fisk murder trial brought in a verdict of manslaughter against William Fisk last Saturday night at 7.30. Sentence was deferred until the 22nd inst., when the court will resume.

—At the Royal Ulster regatta the Varna beat the Valkyrie.

INDIAN HEAD.

—Work on the town hall is to begin at once. Mr. Cole of Wolseley, is the contractor.

—It is proposed to hold a race meeting on the 6th or 7th of August. Liberal promises of support have already been received.

—The municipal council held a meeting to-day, a by-law was passed making the municipality into a herd district. The estimates for the year was also passed.

WHITEWOOD.

—Whitewood races on the 19th.

—During the past week we had a couple of heavy showers which made a considerable difference in the appearance of the crops, but as previously stated a vast quantity will never be harvested as the gophers have destroyed nine-tenths of a number of crops.

—Mr. D. Campbell, while returning from Esterhaz met with a bad accident upon coming down the Qu'Appelle Valley, his horse ran away, upset the rig and throwing him violently to the ground thereby breaking his leg. He is now being nursed at Mr. McKay's and it will be some weeks before he can venture to return to town.

—D. Hunter was fined $50 last week for importing liquor without a permit. The case was about as follows: Some one unloaded a keg from the express and the police picked it up. Mr. Hunter witnessed the act, and being a little merry himself asked for it and said it was his, whereupon the police took action. Hunter has appealed and the case will be brought before the judge.

SALTCOATS.

—Blacksmith Garvin's new house is fast approaching completion.

Allan Forrester, one of the N.W.M.P. detatchment here, has been made a corporal and removed to Regina. Forrester was very popular here and much respected.

—Private Pringle, N. W. M. P., arrested a large bear cub near Fort Pelly, and brought him here on the 14th inst. This is the eighth bear captured near here within two months.

—Henry Anderson, the 12 year old son of a farmer near here, was kicked in the face by a colt on the 9th, sustaining a fracture of the lower jaw and the loss of some teeth. Dr. Patrick reduced the fracture and the patient is doing well.

EDMONTON.

From The Bulletin.

—The Athabasca, like the Saskatchewan, is remarkably low this season.

—C. Fraser sold his fur to the H. B. Co. for $2,800 and will start for Chipewyan next week.

—The young man who was mentioned as having been seen on the road to Victoria, some weeks ago on his way to Hudson's Bay as he said, looking for work, is now confined at Fort Saskatchewan as being insane.

—In the ladies' race on Monday Miss Sarah Chandlier, who was riding the leading horse, was thrown by the animal swerving to one side when almost close to the winning post. She was taken up insensible but was not seriously injured.

—Twenty-eight miners have been at work on the river within a distance of two miles down and three miles up from Fort Saskatchewan during the past two or three weeks and have been taking out an average of $2 a day to a man which makes $84 a day in all or $504 a week.

MOOSE JAW.

—Mr. Gagen, of Beaver Creek, reports the cattle on the ranche as doing well this summer, as they are not troubled with mosquitos or sand flies.

—Rev. Mr. Bunt preached his farewell sermon to a large congregation on Sunday evening, the 7th inst. Mr. Bunt was an earnest minister and during his term in Moose Jaw made many friends both in and out of his own congregation.

—A public meeting was held on Wednesday, the 9th inst, for the purpose of discussing the question of inducing the C. P. R. employees to hold their pic-nic here. A committee was appointed to canvas for subscriptions and to meet the employees to make the necessary arrangements.

—Nearly all the trees planted on the streets last spring are growing and thriving well. The old impression that trees would not grow here is clearly shown to be false. Where trees are properly planted out and attended to until they get a good root hold in the ground, they are certain to do well.

—Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Burrows, of Lambeth, Ont., and Mr. and Mrs. Shannon, of Regina, visited Moose Jaw last week. They were driven around the country by Mr. J. N. Macdonald, editor of the Times. Mr. Burrows has visited many points in Manitoba and the Northwest Territories and reports the crops around Moose Jaw as good as any crops he has seen.

CHURCHBRIDGE.

—On July the 5th we had another wedding, Mr. Gunn of Saltcoats, to Miss Ross of Kinbrae.

—We are pleased to have a resident clergyman in this settlement, the Rev. P. K. Lyon. We all wish him God-speed in his noble work.

—Our late highly respected agent, Mr. James Bulgin, has been promoted to Binscarth. He has been succeeded by Mr. J. B. Graham, late of the G. T. R.

—There are splendid openings here for a lumber yard, wheelwright and druggist. A wheelwright and wagon repairer would do first rate here, as we have a good blacksmith.

—A large ranch is in progress of establishment here. Messrs. Huckvale & Kensington have purchased 10,000 acres between here and Bredenbury, and the whole will be enclosed by a three-strand wire fence. It is a large undertaking, and it is hoped it may be attended with success.

—On the 3rd inst., we had quite an imposing wedding here. One of the pioneer settlers of this district, J. R. McVeale, Esq., was married by the Rev. P. K. Lyon, rector of Churchbridge, assisted by the Rev. T. A. Teitchmann, of Sumner, to Miss Alice Cogan of Clifton, Bristol, England. The wedding breakfast was served in a large tent at West Bluff, the residence of W. H. Collier, Esq., at which 32 guests sat down and the beautiful spread was thoroughly enjoyed by those present.

ANTHRACITE.

—The report of the sale of the Canadian Anthracite Coal Company's land to a British syndicate has been confirmed by a cablegram from London from Frederick Weyerhausen, the Rock Island king who is largely interested in company. The purchase price is one million four hundred and fifty thousand dollars, of which a large part has been deposited in the bank of England. The sale was negotiated by Mayor Stewart, who has been in England several months on the errand. The name of the British purchasers are not yet known here. They will stock their company for five million dollars.

inches below grade, the foundations to be 18 inches thick, the framing to be of spruce, the outside walls, porch and roof to be sheathed with hemlock boarding, inside and outside finish to be first quality clear chestnut and the flooring to be of spruce.

Perishable Vegetables.

There are many of the perishable vegetables for summer use which will not bear long journeys in warm weather, and should always, therefore, if designed for market, be grown near some market. Such are lettuce, greens, summer cabbage, tomatoes, green peas, string beans and the like. Many of these articles indeed are transported in winter and spring from the south to the northern markets, but the native grown crops when they come are so much superior in quality that they speedily drive out all competition. On market gardens within less than six miles of a market, the vegetables grown are usually lettuce, radishes, spinach, kale, cabbage, greens, dandelions, rhubarb, onions, followed on the same land by early cabbage, cucumbers, melons, squashes, tomatoes, egg plant, peppers, parsley, celery, horse radish, salsify or oyster plant; and for fruits, strawberries, and raspberries, and pears. At a greater distance from market, say six to ten miles, or where there are good facilities for transportation by rail, some of the above named vegetables and fruits are grown, together with green peas, beans, sweet corn, asparagus, winter cabbages; and for fruits, strawberries, raspberries, blackberries, grapes, apples, pears and plums.

Horticultural Notes.

The new chrysanthemum, "Mrs. Alpheus Hardy," has created a great stir and gained premiums at the different exhibitions.

Do not forget to firm the seed in the soil. This may be done in some cases with the back of a hoe, a trowel or with a board—anything that evenly firms the soil.

Fay's currant has proven a valuable addition and stands at the head of the list of currants.

Of the newer grapes Moore's Diamond was commended at the late meeting of the Western New York Horticultural society for vigor of vine, productiveness, good quality and earliness. The Moyer and the Niles were highly spoken of.

Gleaned from Many Sources.

Popular Gardening says: Every one of us ought to spend at least one day in a large city market, studying intently, and another day about a commission house. It would cost something, but it would pay.

An Illinois grower says the best thing he has yet found for cultivating strawberries is a one horse harrow. It keeps the ground loose and throws no dirt on the row.

Remember that a grape trellis is a permanent institution and the extra expense of making it right will pay.

A Brilliant Idea.

Hardware Dealer—Now, Mr. Rusticus, there's what I call a bargain. That stove has a quick oven, and the draught is so arranged that it will save one-half your fuel.

Mrs. R. (who is a student of economics)—Let us take, pa! why not get two, and save all the fuel?—Harper's Bazar.

He Wanted a Show.

"You must stop this smoking during business hours," said the head clerk.

"What's the matter?" inquired one of the boys.

"The boss says he can't appreciate his five cent cigar when you clerks are puffing your Henry Clays."—The Epoch.

How He Made It.

She—Who's that finely dressed gentleman with the immense diamond stud in his shirt bosom?

He—That? Oh, that's one of the fellows who sold Washington medals on the street in New York during the centennial.—Burlington Free Press.

It Would Make No Difference.

A lady, greatly excited, asks to see the editor of a daily paper, and is told that it is impossible, the editor being far too busy to speak to any one, no matter who it may be. "Oh, that makes no difference," is her reply. "I shall doubt the talking myself."—Paris Figaro.

Polite.

Fannie tried very hard to be polite and speak correctly. At church one day she met a little friend who had been sick for some time. In asking about her affliction Fannie said: "Did you enjoy much pain when you were ill?"—Youth's Companion.

He Changed the Subject.

He—Miss Travis, do you look favorably upon my suit?

She—Certainly, it fits you beautifully.—Burlington Free Press.

MEN YOU HEAR OF.

Mr. Blaine is the only college graduate in the cabinet.

Gen. Sherman's only son, Thomas Ewing Sherman, will be ordained a Jesuit in July.

Ex-Senator Palmer, newly appointed minister to Spain, belongs to the noted Palmer family of Stonington, Conn.

Col. Smith Dorign-Smith is virtually king of the Scilly Islands, holding a lease from the government which gives him absolute powers.

Dr. Alvin Tascott, of Connecticut, a Yale man of the class of '28, says that he reads a hundred lines of Homer every night to go to sleep on.

Some one recently told Mr. Henry Irving, Jr., that he wonderfully resembled his illustrious father. "Yes," was the reply; "we go to the same tailor."

Mr. Windom is the oldest member of the new cabinet, being very nearly 63 years of age. Mr. Miller is the youngest member, not having reached his 48th year.

Archdeacon Philpott is now the senior clergyman of the Church of England; born in 1791, and graduated in 1812. He is father-in-law to the Dean of Westminster.

The Prince of Wales goes to Germany in the spring on a formal visit to the German Emperor, before whom he will appear in his capacity of colonel of the Blucher Hussars.

It is solemnly stated that George Meredith, the English novelist, once lived on oat meal for an entire year. Perhaps this is the reason so many of his stories have run as serials.

Mr. Dibbs, the new protectionist premier of New South Wales, is an expert at wood carving, having learned the art while serving twelve months in a Sydney jail for contempt of court.

The late James Flood, of California, is said to have spent $5,000,000 on his San Francisco home. The bronze fence about the grounds cost $60,000 and the bronze gates almost as much more.

Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes advises young men not to smoke. "It is liable to injure the sight," he says, "to render the nerves unsteady, to enfeeble the will and to enslave the nature to an imperious habit likely to stand in the way of a duty to be performed."

Mr. Batcheller, the new assistant secretary of the treasury, has at Saratoga what is called "the house with a patent on it." It is of a queer, rambling design, and the plans are copyrighted and the arrangement patented, so that no one can build another like it.

Dr. George F. Root, the patriotic song writer, author of "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp," "The Battle Cry of Freedom," is in excellent health, and recently was tendered a public reception in Chicago, when he received letters of congratulation from Gen. Sherman, Gen. Alger and Governor Fifer.

Roswell Beardsley, postmaster at North Lansing, Tompkins county, N. Y., will be permitted to retain his office. He was first appointed to his present position by John Quincy Adams, in 1826, and has drawn a salary from the government for sixty-three years. He is now 90 years of age, but hale and hearty.

Rev. Dr. E. G. Robinson will resign the presidency of Brown university at the close of the present college year. He is 74 years old, but retains full physical and mental vigor, and his only reason for desiring to retire is that he thinks it would be better for the college to have a younger man in his place.

M. Roustan, the French minister to the United States, has been a diplomat for twenty years and has risen to his present position by promotion. He looks ten years younger than his age, which is 54, and his dark curly hair shows but few strands of silver. He has twinkling black eyes, a small, light figure, and he carries his head so far back that he seems taller than he is.

Isaac Murphy, who has for several years ridden more winning horses than any other jockey, receives $10,000 a year from his employer, "Lucky" Baldwin, and makes about $6,000 more by riding outside mounts. He does not drink, swear, lie or bet, and is said to have better control of his horse than any other rider. He is worth about $50,000, and owns a small farm near Lexington, Ky., where he lives with his family when the racing season is over.

ODDS AND ENDS.

Lewis Minthorn, of Shawano, Wis., is the father of twelve children. He has the distinction of being the father of a family composed entirely of triplets.

A Grand Rapids man, who was arrested for gambling, alleged that he had lost all his money, had bet his clothes and lost them, and was sleeping in the gambling room for shelter when pulled.

It is estimated that the present population of the United States is 64,000,000. The total increase is said to be 100,000 a month, exclusive of immigration, and last year the increase by immigration was 518,000. At this rate the next census, which will be taken in July, 1890, will show about 67,000,000.

The electrical apparatus by which doomed criminals will be put to death in New York consists of a chair, probably of iron. The current will be sent from arm to arm of the subject, or from the head to the spine. The exact location of the poles will, no doubt, vary with the subject and the opinion of physicians.

DAUGHTERS OF EVE.

Princess Christian has joined the Plumage league, the object of which is to discourage ladies from wearing feathers.

Mrs. Humphry Ward has forwarded to President Harrison a copy of "Robert Elsmere" bearing her signature.

Alexander of Battenberg's bride, Fraulein Loesinger, is the daughter of the valet of a former Austrian general officer.

Annie E. Dowling, of Austin, Tex., was presented with a handsome gold medal as a reward for heroism during the war at Sabine Pass.

Kate Lucas, a tall, well built, rosy cheeked girl, who can ride the wildest mustang without bridle or blanket, is the pride of the Colorado foothills.

Mrs. Heaton, sister of President Harrison, paid, it is asserted, $22 on inauguration day for a cab to take her from the Arlington hotel to the Capitol.

Paris women now have a whim for natural flowers. They are worn on the shoulders, epaulette fashion, where they are in no danger of being crushed.

Mrs. Noble, wife of the secretary of the interior, comes from Northampton, Mass., where her father was for twenty-five years proprietor of a large sanitarium.

Mme. Louise von Schiller, who has just died at Stuttgart at the age of 85 years, was the daughter-in-law of the poet, the wife of his eldest son, Karl von Schiller.

An 18-year-old girl was arrested in San Francisco the other day, who testified that for the past year she had been consuming over $2 worth of morphine daily.

Miss Caroline Geisler-Schubert, a grand niece of Franz Schubert, has been giving pianoforte concerts in London, and is spoken of in terms of praise by the critics.

Queen Victoria, who traveled to France as Countess of Balmoral, took her own bed and bedding with her, a custom which her majesty never breaks, even if invited to stay in a royal palace.

A new operatic singer, in the person of Fraulein Irene Abendroth, a young Polish lady of 17, has just made a highly successful appearance in the Austrian capital in Bellini's "Sonnambula."

At a recent evening reception to the Quarante club, in New Orleans, all the ladies present appeared in costumes representing the classic heroines of ancient Greece. The part of Iphigenia was assumed by Miss Winnie Davis, the "Daughter of the Confederacy."

Complaint is heard in New York of women who talk audibly during the drawing room readings. Lately a reader stopped, smiled pleasantly and said she would wait until the ladies finished their conversation. Chatter is heard at church, at the opera and the theatre.

The empress of Austria carries a traveling basket fitted up so that she is able to make soup on the cars. It has silver saucepans with gold handles, and the empress declares that she can make in it better broth than any chef can concoct.

Mrs. Mackay, who is just now in Paris, has ordered some marvelously original and artistic toilets. One is in old rose satin, covered with white lace that is studded with real pearls, while the sleeves to the low necked bodice consist of strings of precious stones valued at $40,000.

A fashionable young woman in New York has undergone a remarkable surgical operation, long and painful, by which her tip tilted nose became an organ of pure Grecian design. The cruel charge is made that the new nose does not suit the general conformation of her face.

The new Duchess of Sutherland was by birth named Miss May Mitchell, her father being Rev. Dr. Mitchell, of Oxford, a great scholar and a friend of Lord Beaconsfield and others of celebrity. She married Capt. Arthur Blair, whom she met while he was at Oxford. They had not been married long, and his death is recent.

The jacket which the empress of Russia wore at the time of the railroad accident at Borki recently has a hole as large as a hand torn in the left side, and the buttons have been crushed, evidently by a shock. She has ordered a duplicate of the garment, minus these reminders of her narrow escape, from the Paris dressmaker who made the original.

Mrs. Henrietta Stannard, the lady known as "John Strange Winter," subjected herself for many years to a severe literary apprenticeship before publishing her first book. Most of the characters in "Bootles' Baby" and other military tales are studies from life. She was born in York, England, in 1856. She is the only daughter of Rev. H. V. Palmer.

CARE OF THE EYES.

Shades on lamp or gas burners should be of "milk" or ground glass, never of colored glass.

Never sleep opposite a window which will throw a flood of strong light on your eyes when you wake in the morning.

When bathing, the face do not open the eyes under water, as this is apt to be injurious to the epithelial covering of the eye.

In all institutions, particularly for children, where the eyes are required to do close work, the proper size of the square surface of the windows to the square surface of the floor should never fall below one to four.

The short sighted eye is essentially a diseased eye, and should be treated as such. It affects by preference those who use their eyes constantly for fine or near work, and is almost unknown among the uncivilized nations.

To bathe the eyes properly, take a large basin of cold water, bend the head close over it, and with both hands throw the water with some force on the gently closed lids. This has something of the same effect as a shower bath, and has a tonic up influence which water applied in any other way has not.

When children work by light which falls in their faces they are apt to bend the body forward so as to shade the eyes by the head, or else twist it around so that the light shall fall on the page. Both of these positions are pernicious. There is great danger of the chest becoming narrow and contracted and of the spine becoming curved.

Literature in Chicago.

Sunday School Lessons.

In this country where settlement is scattered and may have not frequent opportunities of attending public worship, our Bible Lessons will be a great help to the study of one set portion of Scripture for each Sunday. The head of the family should collect its members around him and, if possible, sing some hymn and offer prayer, then read, the portion of Scripture set for the day, take up each verse and try to induce each member of the family to talk about it and ask questions. The comments on the lesson we give will help to make the study interesting and be valuable to aid in answering questions. This should not, however, be allowed to interfere with opportunities to attend to preaching service as frequently as possible. To the regular Sunday school teacher and scholar our Bible study column commends itself by experience.

ISRAEL ASKS FOR A KING.

LESSON IV, THIRD QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, JULY 28.

Text of the Lesson, I Sam. viii. 4-20—Commit to Memory Verses 4-7—Golden Text, I Sam. viii. 19—Commentary by the Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Compiled from Lesson Helper Quarterly by permission of H. S. Hoffman, publisher, Philadelphia.]

4. "Then all the elders of Israel gathered themselves together, and came to Samuel unto Ramah." After the defeat of the Philistines recorded in the last lesson, they troubled Israel no more all the days of Samuel, for the hand of the Lord was against them; there was peace also between Israel and the Amorites (chap. vii, 13, 14), so that their repentance and reliance upon the Lord brought them victory over their enemies, and peace and prosperity because the Lord was with them. Samuel was the Lord's representative in their midst, and sought their true welfare in the sight of God. As their judge he went in circuit from year to year to Bethel, Gilgal and Mizpeh, and had his home at Ramah, or Ramathaim Zophim, in Mount Ephraim, where also his father and mother had lived, and where he in due time died and was buried (I Sam. i, 1; xxv, 1) after having anointed to their office the first two kings over all Israel, Saul and David. Samuel's house, and altar unto the Lord at Ramah (chap. vii, 17) remind us of Abram's tent and altar (Gen. xii, 8; xiii, 18); as pilgrims here we should be well content with any place of sojourn that the Lord may give us, but be sure to have in the home an altar unto the Lord, a whole hearted reliance upon the merits of His sacrifice, and constant communion with Him. Only as we see more of God than of man, and abide in Him, can we be faithful servants of His in this present evil world. That Samuel's sons walked not in his ways (v. 5) is simply a proof that righteousness is not hereditary; consider the sons of David, and also Manasseh son of Hezekiah; and impress it upon the children that they must each one for himself accept Jesus as their Saviour; that the fact of father or mother being a Christian will not save them.

5. "Make us a king to judge us like all the nations." God had chosen Israel that they might be unto Him a peculiar treasure above all people—a kingdom of priests, an holy nation (Ex. xix, 5, 6), or, as Balaam said, "The people shall dwell alone and shall not be reckoned among the nations" (Num. xxiii, 9). God had made them higher than all nations. He Himself was their king; His power was their strength, His presence their glory, and this request was like saying, "We do not care to be so different from other nations; let us have a king that we can see and let us be like other people."

6. "The thing displeased Samuel, * * * Samuel prayed unto the Lord." Samuel was one with God; from a child he had ministered to the Lord, and in this request he saw their sin and downfall, and was grieved for them and jealous for the glory of God.

7. "And the Lord said unto Samuel * * * they have not rejected thee, but they have rejected me that I should not reign over them." Their conduct was not a surprise to God; He had foreseen it all, and knew from the beginning their evil hearts and how they would treat Him (Deu. xxxi. 16), yet He loved them, many a time He forgave them, heard them and delivered them when they cried unto Him, sent them prophet after prophet to win them back to Him, and finally sent His own Son as their Messiah, but even Him they rejected and crucified, saying, "We have no king but Cæsar." The time will yet come when they shall receive the Lord Jesus as their King and rejoice in Him and He in them before all the nations of the earth (Jer. xxiii. 5-8; Lu. i, 32, 33). The great question for my soul and for your soul, dear reader, is, "Am I cheerfully accepting Jesus as my King and do I delight in His will?"

8. "They have forsaken me and served other gods; so do they also unto thee." Samuel seems to have felt that they were turning against him, and that it was poor treatment of him even if he was old to ask for a king to take his place; this was a natural feeling and we are all apt to give way to it, but the servant of the Lord must remember that when he is despised or rejected or persecuted for the truth's sake, that it is the Lord who is thus treated and not the servant merely, and the Lord will see to it.

9. "Hearken unto their voice, * * * yet protest solemnly." God wants cheerful willing service, the love of Christ constraining; He does not love that which is done grudgingly.

10. "Samuel told all the words of the Lord unto the people." Just as when, as a child, he told Eli every whit of the Lord's message (chap. iii, 18), even though it was a message of judgment, so now he declares faithfully all the words of the Lord. He is no man pleaser, he will speak the Lord's message faithfully (Gal. i, 10; Jer. xxiii, 28), leaving results to God. It is to be feared that many things are left unsaid from many pulpits, because if said they might offend some prominent people.

11. "This will be the manner of the king that shall reign over you." A God of love will not let His people rush into ruin blindly.

11-17. "He will take." Six times in these verses are these three words repeated, it is the number of a perfect oppressor as 666 is the number of the last great oppressor of the people of God (Rev. xiii. 18). Contrast the seven "I will's" of God in Ex. vi. 6-8; Lev. xxvi. 9-13, and notice how God is always giving while this king is said to be always taking, and not once is he spoken of as giving. Not only will he be an oppressor of the people, but he will be a robber of God, for it is twice said (vs. 15, 17) that he will take the tenth, which is God's special portion (see Lev. xxvii. 30, 32), and appropriate it to himself.

18. "And ye shall cry out in that day, because of your king, which ye shall have chosen you; and the Lord will not hear you in that day." God fills His people with such blessings that they cry out and shout for joy (Ps. xxi. 6, but this will be a cry because of oppression, and inasmuch as they voluntarily accept the oppressor instead of the deliverer, they are told that it will be vain for them to cry unto the Lord. (Prov. i, 25-28; Isa. i, 15; Mic. iii, 4.) As we sow we must reap (Gal. vi. 7; Hos. viii. 7). How insane we must be if we refuse the goodness and the love of God and persist in sowing for ourselves that which will bring a harvest of misery instead of a harvest of glory.

19. "Nay, but we will have a king over us." Thus, though fully forewarned, they persist in their mad career, determined to have their own way regardless of consequences. Faithful Samuel is to them a man of a past age, he is behind the times, good old man, but in their estimation now in his dotage; so like the people in the days of Jeremiah they seem to say, "As for the word that thou hast spoken unto us in the name of the Lord, we will not hearken unto thee, but we will certainly do whatsoever thing goeth forth out of our own mouth." (Jer. xliv. 16, 17.) Is it not a foreshadowing of the time when this same sinful nation had to choose between their true Messiah and a robber, and they decided in favor of the robber and murderer, saying, "Not this man, but Barabbas." (John xviii. 40.)

20. "That we may be like all the nations." Thus our lesson begins and ends. They want a man rather than God, a visible king to rule over them, go before them, and fight their battles.

MANY THANKS.

THE ROYAL TEMPLARS OF TEMPERANCE.

A Christian Temperance and Prohibition society, with its doors wide open to every man and woman desiring to unite in the effort to combat the great evil of intemperance, teaching also that total abstainers are less liable to sickness and accident, live longer than non-abstainers, and suffer injustice when classified with such inferior risks in insurance companies or benefit societies.

ITS OBJECTS ARE.

1. To teach that intemperance and all that produces or sustains it should be regarded as a crime, and to seek to overthrow the traffic in strong drink.

2. To educate the young in temperance principals and to reform and strengthen the fallen.

3. To improve the moral, intellectual, social and physical condition of its members.

4. To teach its members to be industrious and provident.

5. To furnish medical attendance and care for sick members; to afford pecuniary aid to disabled members, give respectable burial to the dead, and provide for widow, orphans or friends left behind.

6. By its experience to prove that carefully selected total abstainers will live longer, have less sickness, fewer accidents and enjoy greater physical blessings than non-abstainers.

ITS FINANCIAL BENEFITS ARE:

Five Dollars per week during sickness, and from $500 to $2,000 to families or heirs of deceased members at death.

WEBSTER'S PRACTICAL

Probably all of our readers have occasion to use a dictionary every day. In some cases words cannot be correctly spelled in others, the pronunciation is difficult, while in still other cases the meaning is not understood. This is true, not only of children and of the uneducated, but of many of the most intelligent as well; and every one who attempts to do without Webster's Practical Dictionary attempts to do without one half of his opportunities for intellectual improvement.

Webster's Practical is an entirely new work by the editors and publishers of Webster's Unabridged which contains more than twice the amount of matter and illustrations ever before offered for the price.

Many Large Engravings, Size of Pages 6 by 9 Inches.

It also embodies several entirely new features which render it pre-eminently such a desirable book for general reference in every household, it will not pay to use even the best of the older works for more than it would pay to journey across the continent in a lumbering old stagecoach while the eminent astronomer of a neighboring system are available. Those wishing to see sample pages and learn the low prices at which these new features before purchasing, should send their address to

GETTING NEARER COMMON SENSE.

The Fort Qu'Appelle Vidette is gradually coming round to the common sense view of the situation respecting the names of the post offices at Fort Qu'Appelle and Qu'Appelle. Our contemporary for a long time persisted in calling this place Troy, though that was never its name. The site named Troy was two miles from here. The Vidette has now got so far as to meekly submit to calling this town "Qu'Appelle Station", that is much nearer its proper name, which we would remind its editor is "Qu'Appelle." No doubt he will reach common sense after a while, if he is given time enough. Our suburban contemporary can fill its columns with twaddle and repetition of names, as well as inaccurate statements from the Northwest Review, and then throw up its cap and yell "verbum sap," but it very conveniently forgets to tell its readers why it publishes abroad for a time the real name of its town ("Fort Qu'Appelle") and then changed it to ours ("Qu'Appelle"). Nor has it shown that anybody would be inconvenienced or injured by harmonizing the names of the post offices with the registered and best known names of the towns. And while the verbum sap. sheet is about it let it show grounds for its bald statement that this town has tried to build itself up "by battering down all competitors." The town of Qu'Appelle has so many advantages that contribute to its growth that it need not fear and can afford to be generous to all its rivals. Verbum sap.

STALE CHESTNUTS.

The Moosomin Courier of the 11th inst. essays a reply to an article appearing in our issue of the previous week on the results of Lieut.-Governor Royal's administration of the permissive "ten words" of the Northwest Territories Act. The Courier says it believes that our statement that scenes of drunkenness have been witnessed in some of our centres of population that would be a disgrace to any country, is "a falsehood promulgated for the purpose of injuring His Honor Lieut.-Governor Royal." Beyond the bare assertion no reason is given for that belief. It is easy for some people to make denials and even to shut their eyes to that which they know exists, and say that they cannot see it. Besides its attempt at denial the Courier rings up some old stale alcoholic scented chestnuts, one of which is the effort to appropriate the term "Temperance men" to that class of selfish individuals who care not for their fellow men or the miseries inflicted upon helpless women and children by their bibulous custom and its inevitable outcome if continued. You may call a Negro a Caucassian but it will never change the color of his cuticle or transform his wool into hair. Temperance colors must be very respectable or non-abstainers would not try to sail under them falsely. As for the slurs thrown out by our contemporary we leave them to be monopolized by the Courier and that ilk. Our cause is a high and noble one capable of advocacy by sound and logical argument, and of demonstration by the results accomplished by the movement in recent years. The true Temperance men can therefore afford to ignore the sneers and personal abuse which appear to be the chief stock-in-trade of their opponents.

THE GLORIOUS TWELFTH.

The anniversary of the battle of the Boyne was this year celebrated with more than usual enthusiasm throughout the Dominion. The cause of the increased interest was no doubt the agitation against the Quebec Jesuit Estates Act. It would be surprising if Orangemen were not stirred up at the present time. Their time-honored Order is regarded by many as the bulwark of Protestantism and the standard-bearer of loyalty to British institutions. In the present crisis in the history of our fair Canada we need loyal and true Britons to stand firm for equal rights to all and special privileges to none. Let Orangemen and all place their principles above party exigencies, and there need be no fear of the undue encroachments upon our free institutions by any sect or body.

In a 12th of July speech Dalton McCarthy, M. P., intimated that he would move for expunging from the Northwest Act the use of the French language. It is to be hoped his motion will carry. We have no use for it up here. It has been intimated to us lately that it is the intention of the members of the Northwest Legislature, should the Lieutenant-Governor attempt to read in French his Speech at the opening of the next session of the Legislature, to at once leave the room in a body. It is to be hoped there is no mistake about it, and that they will possess the necessary backbone to do it. Mr. McCarthy should also move to expunge the clauses in the Act making it obligatory for the Legislature to provide for the maintenance of separate schools. We shall refer more fully to both questions in future issues.

If it has taken The Progress "some time to grasp the full facts of the situation" in reference to Mr. Royal's beer licenses, the Regina Journal has had a much longer time in which to discover what is a great deal more apparent, that the Quebec apostle of Liberalism, Mr. Mercier, is the father of an Act which is intended to be the bulwark of sectarian education in Quebec. If the Journal has an iota of independence it will give its opinion of Mr. Mercier's Jesuits Estates Act, and its relation to the nonsectarian school agitation.

GIVES INSTANT RELIEF.

"I have been troubled with asthma and a bad cough for years. I get nothing to help me like Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam, and would recommend it to others as it gives instant relief." Extract from letter from Walter McAuley, Ventnor, Ont.

NERVE TORTURED.

"I suffered with neuralgia and obtained no relief until I used Hagyard's Yellow Oil. Since then I have also found it an invaluable remedy for all painful burns and cuts, rheumatism and sore throat." Mrs. F. Cameron, 187 Richmond Street West, Toronto, Ont.

The King of Denmark will come to England to attend the wedding of the Princess Louise of Wales to the Earl of Fife.

The latest news from Nicaragua is to the effect that nothing definite has yet been done about the inauguration of the canal works.

It is understood that Lord Charles Beresford will be given command of the steel cruise Mersey, of the North American fleet after the coming naval manœuvres.

Representatives for cotton manufacturers of Lancashire and Yorkshire met at Manchester and decided to run on half-time for one month, beginning next month.

Violent storms, accompanied by whirlwinds, prevailed throughout Austria-Hungary to-day. Heavy losses of life and property are reported and many bridges were destroyed, and railway traffic is seriously interrupted.

The party of the Right in the French Chamber of Deputies brought a motion of impeachment against M. Constans, Minister of the Interior. The Premier moved the previous quesion, which was agreed to by 343 to 129.

The German squadron escorting Emperor William will arrive at Dover on August 1 and proceed next day to the Isle Wight. The Emperor will remain with the Queen at Osborn until Aug. 7. On the 8th he will review the troops at Aldershot.

The London corporation prizes, aggregate prizes of the value of £157 were shot for at Wimbledon on the 15th. The competition was restricted to the Indians and Canadians. Quartermaster Ogg, of the Canadian team, won the silver cup by a score of 326; Lieut. Wilson and Sergt. Mitchell, also of the Canadian team, were second and third respectively, the former scoring 317 and the latter 316.

Mrs. Langtry is very ill, the doctors say, and it possible that her strange career may be nearing a close. The operation she had performed a year ago for the purpose of relieving her of a distressing case of catarrh left her in a weak physical condition from which she never recuperated, and for some time past she has experienced great difficulty in breathing, and it is said that her lungs are affected also.

Some warlike news is telegraphed from Rome, where L'Opinione to-day in an article, evidently inspired, warned the Italian people that the French War Minister has perfected the details of a march across the Italian frontier, and it is merely necessary to give the word and the border provinces are at the mercy of the invader. The article calls upon the Government to no long r delay measures for the proper protection of the frontier.

The Dervish prisoners arriving at Assouan are terribly emaciated, having suffered greatly from hunger and thirst. Among them are many women and boys. An Italian woman named Marletta Cavacolo says she was brought from Kordofan by Mad El Jumi. There were five nuns and two priests still alive at Khartoum. The Dervishes left Dongola with 3,000 men and six guns. Mad El Jumi hoped to reach Berber without fighting. On the march many died and deserted, while many others were killed. Col. Woodhouse estimates the Dervishes killed and wounded at 2,500.

The Pall Mall Gazette says that Viscount Dunlo, aged 20 heir of the Earl of Clancarly, has been married to Belle Bilton, a beautiful music hall artist.

Two more regiments are off for Egypt, and it is certain that others will be speedily required there. The English love of military glory received a mild exaltation by the news of victory over the Dervishes at Arquin, but it is becoming evident a good deal of work, too, remains to be done there before the fanatics from the Soudan are definitely driven back. The prisoners speak of the number of men under the successor of the Mahdi as being "like the sands of the sea," and, making due allowance for the exaggeration, it is safe to assume that their number is formidable They hold the Egyptian Fellaheen in well-merited contempt, are themselves brave to rashness, and in their ignorance have no dread of a contest even with disciplined troops. The party disposed of by General Grenfell was merely one detached for the purposes of foraging and reconnoissance, and he admits the main body of the enemy is steadily pursuing its march northward. His own troops were well in parallel lines without caring to risk an attact upon it. So far from there being any probability of recovering Khartoum, the Kedhive may consider himself fortunate if he succeeds in driving the invaders from the territory they now hold. in the meantime this eruption from the south furnishes capital for the continuance of British occupation.

FOUR NEW STATES.

South Dakota, North Dakota, Montana and Washington.

On February 22, 1889, the President signed the bill creating South Dakota, North Dakota, Montana, and Washington states of the Union.

South Dakota.—The great Prairie State, in which the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway has three main lines reaching Ellendale, Aberdeen, Huron, Watertown, and Sioux Falls. Go to South Dakota via the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway and pass through St. Paul and Minneapolis en route.

North Dakota.—Where is grown No. 1 Hard Scotch Fife wheat; whose healthful climate nurtures the most vigorous and brainy civilization on earth; where single counties raise more wheat, oats and barley, than entire states; the soil of whose fertility prairies is richer than the valley of the Nile; where the Turtle Mountain, Minot, Devil's Lake land districts invite the home seeker to secure a free home. Magnificent daily train service to Fargo, Grand Forks, Grafton, Devil's Lake, Bottineau, and all other important points.

Montana, the golden.—Treasures in her mines of precious metals; wealth in her 4,000,000 head of live stock; profit in her fertile fields, producing a larger yield of crops than any other state or territory; the richest country per inhabitant on earth where prosperity is universal; which has the best paid labor in the world; a balmy winter climate, caused by warm winds from the Pacific. The St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway is the only railroad passing through a continuous agricultural country from St. Paul and Minneapolis to the Rocky Mountains. It runs through the Great Reservation of 18,000,000 acres of land, free to settlers, in the Milk River Valley. Wood, water, and coal in abundance; no irrigation required; the only line passing through Great Falls with its 1,000,000 horse-power cataracts; immense coal veins, and surrounding farming country of free land; through Helena, the capital city and commercial centre of Montana, and Butte, the richest mining centre on earth, to San Francisco by the Columbia River Valley, Portland and Puget Route, or Ogden, Utah, to California points. Remember this is the only line running dining cars, sleeping cars, and free colonist sleepers of its own from St. Paul and Minneapolis to Great Falls, Helena and Butte. It is also the shortest line to Butte.

Washington.—The country of tall timber bordering on Puget Sound, the Mediterranean of the Pacific. Do not forget that the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway is the only line which offers a choice of three routes to the Pacific coast. The Manitoba-Pacific route is the only line by which passengers en route for Tacoma, Portland and San Francisco can pass through Portland and Seattle. Free colonist sleepers run through without change or delay. Tickets to the Pacific Coast by rail or lines of steamers or tickets are $20 and ten dollars less than the Seattle route.

For further information, maps, rates and publications in regard to the resources of the four new states, write or apply to F. I. Whitney, Gen'l Pass. and Tkt. Ag't, St. P., M. & M. Ry., St. Paul, Minn.

THE FELON KING.

A DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE AGAINST KING ALCOHOL.

The Reign of Rum Eloquently Described by Gen. Fisk—The Conflict Is Upon Us. The Nation's Heart Throbbing to the Music of Prohibition.

The veteran editor, Henry C. Bowen, had a notable gathering at his famous Roseland Park, his country retreat, near Woodstock, Conn. These meetings have been held annually, on July 4, since 1870. On this occasion great political addresses were delivered by his invited guests, who were among the most distinguished statesmen, jurists and men of letters in America.

The following is a synopsis of the grand speech of Gen. Fisk—subject: "A New Declaration of Independence:"

"Oh, that from every hill top and valley, from mountain and prairie, city and hamlet, from lake to gulf and from sea to sea, there might this day arise the united voice of 60,000,000 of people in most solemn declaration of independence of this cruel king, whose injuries and usurpations threaten the destruction of our free government. As did our fathers when they resolved to throw off the absolute tyranny of a bad king, so let us give certain facts to a candid world. This monster, sitting supreme in the politics of this country, has enacted laws authorizing him to open in all our towns and cities slaughter houses of men, women and children, and of all virtue.

"He has enacted laws permitting him to transform men into beasts. He is the direct cause of nine-tenths of the woes and sorrows which blight and curse our people. He hiding his monstrous deformity under the forms of law, enacted by his own vassals, over whose heads he cracks the slave driver's lash in halls of legislation, maintains at our expense an army of miscreants who, at the very doors of our homes and in the shadows of our sanctuaries, prosecute the work of murder and death. He has despoiled labor, burdened property with excessive taxation, impoverished whole communities, hindered education, corrupted morals, fostered crimes, aided all classes of vice and wrong, and plunged his unhappy victims into shame and degradation. He would have us transmit to our children a heritage of distilleries, breweries, and saloons, and chain to the weary backs of society increasing burdens of paupers, criminals, idiots and lunatics.

"He seizes and debauches innocent children, tears sons from the arms of sorrowing mothers, and bears them away to dishonored graves. He wrings not tears from the eyes of widow whose husbands he has sacrificed at the shrine of the drunkard's Moloch. He sits supreme in the national congress and makes laws in the country's capital. He governs courts of justice, and makes ministers of the law and legislatures his lackeys. He silences the preacher in his pulpit and muzzles the editor at his desk. He wastes, directly and indirectly, in his revels annually more than a thousand millions of our dollars, and marshals in his staggering procession to death and hell a half million of our people. He is a cold, heartless, cruel murderer and assassin of the deepest dye. He counts his victims by millions. His butcheries go on daily and nightly within sight of the portals of our homes. We can hear the shrieks of his victims and the wail of the bereaved.

"The time would fail me to tell the thousandth part of the evils, multiplying and destructive, that flow out of the infamous liquor traffic, and in all this vast throng the great evil has no friend. Dear friends, have we the courage this day to issue, and thereto affix our signatures in the pronounced writing of John Hancock, our new declaration of independence; and with a firm reliance on Divine Providence, pledge our lives and fortune and sacred honor that from this day henceforth no word or act of ours may be construed into allegiance to this felon king? He must be driven from his places of power and utterly overthrown. The conflict is upon us. It is a life and death struggle. Oh, for an uprising of righteous indignation, for an aroused American conscience, for patriotic devotion to home and country like that which gave inspiration and faith to Jonas Parker and his neighbors when they reddened the village green of Lexington with their blood on that glorious morning a century and more ago.

"When the old revolution burst into magnificent blossoms as the shot was fired that echoed round the world; for an enlightened public opinion, the mightiest advocate of any question for the combined forces of Christian home, Christian Church and Christian commonwealth in array against that traffic in the flesh and murder until it shall be thundered from every political Sinai, national and state, 'Thou shalt not, and there shall be no legalized saloon where floats the starry flag of the free.' Not until then will the infamous business cease; not until then will we be delivered from its satanic sorceries. Temporizing policies are a failure. Under all systems of license regulation or tax, the work of ruin and death goes on. Myriads of homes are poisoned, the prosperity of the nation is undermined, the strength of our race wasted, millions are hurried to early and dishonored graves, and a lurid shadow is cast upon the life beyond. The prohibition of the liquor traffic is the demand of the people, and politicians and statesmen who fail to heed it are treasuring up wrath against the day of wrath. Prohibition if in the air.

"The nation's heart is beginning to throb to its music. Its coming is whispered on every breeze. The rising tide breaks all along the shore, and each successive white fringed billow washes further up the strand."

Prohibition Won't Down.

The Maine Democrats refused to declare against prohibition, though the majority of the committee desired it.

William L. Putnam, who was nominated for governor positively refused to run on an Anti Prohibition platform. And yet they say Maine people are tired of legislation.

PROTECTION FOR HOME.

Miss Willard's Address at the Great New York Meeting.

The Republican party, in the interest of the monopolies it has fostered and the war tariff it would maintain, assumes the same position as Sam Randall, the high tariff Democrat, who never posed as a reformer, threatens to take off the tax and brazenly talks of its disregard of "whisky ring behests" on the very day when it has snowed under the plea of gifted J. Ellen Foster and good Albert Griffin for an anti-saloon plank.

Verily, the hands are the hands of Jacob, but the smell is the smell of Esau. Moreover its speech betrayed it in the specious claim that it must fight the whisky ring if it takes off the tax, for therein Republican managers admit their knowledge that the whisky ring believes a tax is good for it, even as Peter Iler and the brewers' congress both admit, thus throwing up the falseness of Republican claims that high license and tax are "a step toward Prohibition." The party stands arrayed against itself in its state and national policy; the house is divided against itself and cannot stand.

To-night, in the palace of the rich Republican party, King Tariff sits enthroned on an Ohio woolsack, wielding his scepter of pig iron.

"Protection" is the war cry of this campaign—protection for "infant industries" that have grown sizable as Samson, but none for the infants in arms; protection for lambs that bleat in the pastures of Ohio, while home itself is a shorn lamb to which no wind is tempered. Now to the main principle involved in the huge bamboozler of a platform just launched upon the country, I am agreed it is only to the application that I take exception. Let me venture to give you a woman's definition of government. To me it seems that, even as a college grinds out graduates, and a grist mill grinds out flour, so "government" is but a great changing mill, with just one product, and that is protection for life and limb and property. If government succeeds here, then its success is splendid. If it fails here, then it has failed in its crucial test. But the best government will most carefully protect the best treasure it possesses. Tried by this test our own must take a new departure or it will fail.

Lord Erskine said that the choicest treasure of civilization is twelve honest men inside a jury box. I will venture a different definition, and will give it in the words of our own Quaker poet, who speaks about

> The dear, home faces, whereupon
> The fitful firelight paled and shone.

Democrats as of old are sold to the liquor power, and Republicans have flung their standard to the breeze, inscribed, "Protection for Vested Interests—Free Trade in Boys." Prohibitionists take up the challenge and reply: "Protection for the Home—no trade at all in Alcoholic Poison."

We have before us vivid illustrations of the difference between Republican Prohibition, as in Iowa, Kansas and Maine; Democratic Prohibition, as in Georgia, Mississippi and Tennessee; and Prohibition as represented by Fish and Brooks and the million men who will vote for them this fall. The crack of the party whip silences all but the last. Good Albert Griffin, who, despite his kindly face, is a regular Griffin's head to his party, not to say a Sphinx and Bones, sits meekly in his delegation and makes no protest against the utter silence of the platform from which he prophesied so much. The anti-saloon boom goes out of sight even before the weakest of the nine personal booms has disappeared, and the platform is as "unanimous" as one of Nobody's Democratic primaries. Prohibition! Prohibition is the only genuine article, twelve inches to the foot or sixteen ounces to the pound, because it alone has the environment of success, the backing of a constituency. So long as a party's hand is down deep in the saloonkeeper's pocket it cannot cry out against him, and so long as every other breath among the delegates given to bewail "the 16 to 1" heresy or temperance plank is passionate and pleading.

The head and front of our offending is that we are "a one horse party." Well, so far as the white ribbon women are concerned they are pretty good judges of the equine animal, and would far rather have one horse that will go than two that will only go—the other way. To us the situation is a reminder of that old story of when the tariff was whipped up to cover the Whig party's retreat from the anti-slavery question. Then, as now, a white and black horse were harnessed together—one representing Christian manhood, the other a wild eyed and balky steed that belonged to the blackness of darkness in figure as in fact.

Now we've been wont to bring our scissors, shears and carving knives to cut the harness that binds this uncongenial pair and speed the white horse forward alongside of this "one horse" now often laughed about, for then you will see a splendidly matched team that will go pounding along the firm highway of civilization at a tremendous pace. "Wait for that wagon, and we all take a ride." One million votes for Fish and Brooks! That must be our aim. Nothing less is worthy of the outlook and the emergency. Whatever you may think, my brothers, women will have more to do with gathering in this harvest of pure ballots than anybody else, for more and more as times go on it will prove true, "you will ever lose your rise or fall with us." But imagine a woman speaking in this fashion: "My son, your first vote will come next fall. I beg you, let it be in favor of the Monroe doctrine," or a wife, thus appealing to her husband: "My dear, I beseech of you to change your vote to the party that will protect our American fisheries," or a sweetheart speaking thus: "Adolphus, I cannot be seen for a favor your sub bonnet unless you will promise to declare by your ballot in November for the rehabilitation of our merchant marine." On the other hand, who does not know that all over this land today, "motherly women, sisterly women, sweet, pure girls, are saying already to their nearest and best: 'Don't you please vote for the home won't you represent us at the polls?' And they will be saying this at a thousand polling places next autumn, and best of all, our prayers are for you, noble brothers, no less than our sympathies and work.

It is easy to laugh at "sentiment," but such a laugh is very cheap and very heartless. The heart rules the world, and no man or woman not well endowed with sentiment has ever moved the world or any considerable fraction thereof. The mighty movement for protecting the home by outlawing the saloon was born of woman's tears and agonies. The prayer of the gentle has now become the purpose of the strong; the plan of the White Ribboners has become the programme of a party; the hope of the defenseless has grown to be the oath of the defendants. Through this great auditorium to-night surges the spirit of the crusade, that wondrous Pentecost of God, and

> She is launched on the wave,
> The good ship Prohibition,
> The wave of Humanity,
> Boundless and free.

In monarchical governments women may attain the highest power, and we see Queen Victoria ruling the most dogmatic of all nations for more than fifty years, her daughter practically guiding the destinies of woman despising Germany for an hundred days and the princess regent of Brazil freeing the race her noble father has all his lifetime vainly wished to free. But in free and progressive America we've changed all that and but for the large-minded behavior of the Prohibition party, woman is almost nowhere heard of in politics. Certainly it has never occurred to any party except ours to give them a position so honorable and distinguished as to make them members of the committee to notify presidential and vice presidential nominees of their high duties. I greatly regret that Mrs. Clara Hoffman of Missouri, one of America's most eloquent women, is not here to serve on this committee, more especially as one of our honored candidates is from that state. It then becomes my duty, as it is my rare pleasure, to convey to Gen. Clinton B. Fisk and Rev. Dr. John A. Brooks the official information, more pleasing to our party than to them, that they are the chosen targets for the slings and arrows of outrageous fortune to be hurled against in 1888, in the mighty battle for God and home and native land. For the present it seemeth grievous, brothers honored and beloved, but yonder on the calm heights of history waits the laurel wreath, when victory shall have been won and all discords changed to heavenly harmonies, die in the large and charitable air. God give you grace to live and strive

> For the cause that lacks assistance,
> For the wrong that needs resistance,
> For the future in the distance,
> And the good that you can do.

Noble, self sacrificing men and generous knights of the new chivalry, may you have a million votes, and if you don't it shall not be because the women did not work for you as if there were no prayer, and pray for you as if there were no work.

What Are You Going to Do About It?

There is somewhat of a parallelism between the history of the rum power and of the slave power. And we have no doubt that the parallel will be carried out still further in the future, and that the aggressiveness and the desire for domination on the part of the rum power to be the immediate cause of its overthrow. The moral sentiment of the people was opposed to slavery, as it is to rum traffic. All that is needed to rouse the really inimical, but inactive, masses of the nation is a continuance of the rum power in its present line of action. All it has to do is to continue its defiance of the Sunday and other laws which may interfere with the perpetual sale of rum; that it shall persist in meddling in politics, in attempting to control party caucuses and conventions, in using money to carry elections, in attaching to its cause the dregs of our social system, and, in short, in unfavorably contrasting with the moral and good and true in our society, and the tremendous force of public opinion against it will be fully awakened, the people shall arise in their might and pulverize the rum power.—Toledo Blade (Rep.)

The Anarchist of the Centuries.

The Rev. Dr. T. De Witt Talmage, referring to the money wasted in alcoholics, says: "Gather up the money that the working classes have spent for rum during the last thirty years, and I will build for every working man a house, and lay out for him a garden and clothe his sons in broadcloth and his daughters in silks, and stand at his front door a prancing span of sorrels or bays, and secure him a policy of life insurance so that at my pay-ment home may be well maintained after he is dead. The most persistent, most overpowering enemy of the working classes is intoxicating liquors. It is the anarchist of the centuries, and has boycotted and is now boycotting the body and mind and soul of American labor. It is to it a worse foe than monopoly and worse than associated capital. It annually swindles industry out of a large portion of its earnings. It holds out its blasting solicitations to the mechanic or operator on his way to work, at the noon spell, on his way home at eventide."—Temperance Standard.

High License.

I only know one other class of men in the community whom I held in as great contempt as the saloon keeper, namely, their creatures, the legislators who give them authority to destroy souls. It is not often that the creature is creator, but in this case there is no lower ground for them to stand on, and the next place below is the one that hasn't any bottom. As to high license, it is simply a bigger division with the devil, and the child of the man who was killed by high license whisky doesn't take any pride in saying to the orphan of the free whisky drunk and "I'm higher in the social scale than you are, for my father was slain by high license."—Sam Small.

The Prohibition Issue.

What a calamity would be the, unthinking of such an element of mischief, no one needs to be even reminded. The evils of the liquor traffic are known and read of all men. Whatever be the issue of the great debate, now become national, as to the ways and means of ridding the land of it, there is reason for thankfulness that in no possible way can those evils slay more. Be covered, recused or evaded.—Chicago Standard (Baptist).

THE LIQUOR MAN'S TORCHLIGHT.

PERSONAL LIBERTY ENLIGHTENING THE WORLD.

A FEW NUTS TO CRACK.

The Catholic Temperance Advocate Asks a Few Conundrums.

Who had turkey stuffed with oysters, and all the "fixins," Christmas day, you or the man who sold you beer or whisky?

Who has the fat of the land, all that money can buy, you or the saloon keeper?

Who keeps a horse and takes his wife and children out riding, you or the man who takes your money for drink?

Who wears good clothes, you or the saloon keeper?

Whose children are dressed nicely, and have all that children want to make life comfortable, yours or the saloon keeper's?

Who eats stale bread because it is cheap? Who buys cheap meat, buys cheap bones, and everything that is a little poor because it is cheap? Is it a saloon keeper?

When you are hauled up before the police court for being drunk and disorderly, whom does the judge smile upon, bow to, and treat with deference, you or the man who jingles your weekly wages in his trousers pockets?

Who pays your fine, the man who has your money or your broken hearted wife, who has earned a few extra dollars by washing?

What good has come to you from drinking?

Has it made you a better man?

Has it made you a better father?

Does your family love you because you drink?

Do your neighbors show you more respect?

Are the men who get your money friends to whom you can turn in time of need?

Is your head clearer, your soul purer, your intellect brighter, your hand steadier, your pocket fuller, your home happier when you drink beer or whisky?

These are a few points, of hundreds, for your consideration.—Catholic Temperance Advocate.

A Libel on Luther.

Who loves not wine, woman and song,
Remains a fool his whole life long.

The slanderous imputation of the above couplet to Luther by a drunken versifier has been caught at by the lovers of strong drink, its makers and venders, and repeated over and over, until sober people have been perplexed and scandalized, and have asked in serious sorrow whether Luther could ever have said or written such a piece of barroom doggerel.

Dr. Joel Swartz, the distinguished Lutheran divine, in a letter to The Union Signal, proves conclusively that Luther could not have written the couplet.

He writes: "The couplet does not occur in any extant work of his, nor do the more than one thousand Luther biographers attribute it to him."

Its origin has been distinctly traced to the year 1775 and cannot be found earlier. Rev. J. G. Morris, D. D., LL. D., of Baltimore, a voluminous Luther writer and an accepted authority, thus states the case:

"In 1775, Matthias Claudius, a humorous poet of that day, published a literary magazine, called The Wandsbecker Boten (Wandsbeck Messenger), which attained a wide circulation. In No. 75 of that year there appeared some lines addressed to a poet. One of the stanzas contains this couplet, and ends with 'Sagt Doctor Martin Luther.' They were never heard before, so that it is only 113 years ago, that is, 282 years after Luther's death, that these lines were written and attributed to Luther. A well known German poet, John Henry Voss, at that time living in Hamburg, is the reputed author of them. In 1777 he transferred them to another literary publication, The Almanack of the Muses, which he edited, and again imputes them to Luther, and his poem 'On Luther,' published the same year, concludes with the same couplet, which he again accredits to Luther.

"The pastors of Hamburg were offended at this unwarranted proscription, and combining their influence, they prevented his election to the position of professor in one of the city schools. Voss could easily have prevented this misfortune by showing when and where Luther wrote the lines imputed to him, but he did not attempt it, because neither he nor any other man can prove what never occurred."

The conclusion therefore of Bayne, one of the latest and ablest biographers of Luther, may be accepted as true and final. "He did not write and never could have written the couplet."

Principles, Not Party.

"Owning the right to vote, I will not hand it over to a party or a party leader, but will exercise that right as best suits myself, and in accordance with my own views of the duty which the citizen owes to his country. I believe that the man who votes for country before party is a patriot, and that he who votes for party before country is a traitor, in whose hands the ballot is as dangerous to the country's weal as the dagger in the hands of the assassin is to the man against whom the assassin has a grudge."—T. V. Powderly.

Half Right, Half Wrong.

Depend upon it, there are but a few who take in the tremendous significance of this gathering army of temperance fanatics. I have never belonged to their advance guard; I have never voted with their political party. But more and more I study their movements, and hold myself in a friendly attitude toward their measures, and know not how soon I may join them. To my thought, hitherto, the increase of intelligence, the enlargement of Christian influences in the community, and such remedial measures as local option laws and high license, have been the desirable means to use. Local option has been effective in extirpating saloons from townships and small towns. High license has, I firmly believe, restricted the number of places of traffic and reduced the consumption of liquor. With an undagging interest I watch the current of opinion and the evidence as it comes in from Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Georgia, Nebraska. I do believe local option and high license have effected much in those commonwealths. But whether they would be worth anything, whether anything they have achieved would have been accomplished had not these fanatically extreme Prohibitionists been firing away with all their forces, I do not know. Frankly, it looks to me doubtful if anything would have been done, either in the way of local option or high license, if there had been no uprising of these irreconcilable foes of the bottle. Will they become the administration party and elect a president? I know not and care not. But that they will overturn present organizations, and pitch party constituencies about as a surging sea casts up sand on the shore, I do believe.—Rev. Dr. Withrow, Chicago.

The Church Union Converted.

The New York Church Union recently said editorially:

"As we have served faithfully in the Republican party for over twenty-five years, we know the awful wrenching of soul and spirit that it has cost to leave the ranks of the party which we know has accomplished so much in the best interests of our whole country. But we also realize that there is no hope for gaining any material aid from the Republican party for the promotion of prohibition, as their last platform is more hopeless than anything that has been accepted by the party in the past upon this subject, in the face of greater demands made by the Prohibition voters both in the Republican and Democratic parties."

The Saloon in Politics.

The prohibition movement has certainly done a good deal more to keep the Republican party up to the mark of its high calling, and to make it in these latter days what it was in the beginning, as the party of moral ideas, than any influence inside the party. The high license legislation in this state is due vastly more to the presence of the Prohibitionists than to the desires or sentiments of those who control the machinery of the dominant party.—Philadelphia Telegram (Ind.)

We believe the saloon business is productive of little good and much evil.—Washington Post (Dem.)

The Republican anti-saloon conference in New York came to an untimely end for lack of funds. Whatever may be thought by honest men of the liquor question, very few of them are likely to regret the collapse of this thoroughly fraudulent performance, the purpose of which was to divide Prohibitionists and liquor dealers alike.—Brooklyn Citizen (Dem.)

What Makes a Great Nation.

Do we clearly know in what a nation's greatness consists? Whether it be great or little depends entirely on the sort of men and women it is producing. A sound nation is a nation that is composed of sound human beings, healthy in body, strong of limb, true in word and deed, brave, sober, temperate, chaste; to whom morals are of more importance than wealth or knowledge; where duty is first and the rights of man are second; where, in short, men grow up and live and work, having in them what our ancestors called "the fear of God."

The general conference of the Methodist Protestant, of the United States, at Adrian, Mich., adopted the following resolution:

That we believe the time has fully come when Christian men should rise above party prejudice and sectional jealousy, and give their suffrage to any party which has for its object the protection of our homes by the destruction of the unholy traffic.

Workingmen for Prohibition.

Three millions of workingmen, who, like the millions of Prohibitionists, have been asking in vain for the reform that the age demands, are steadily falling into line, and standing with us shoulder to shoulder. The army thus composed will tread down the pestilent saloons, and also correct the existing abuses, by which capitalists are favored and laborers oppressed.—Southern Star.

The Poor Man Pays the Bills.

The war of the rebellion is still being fought at the national capital, and the country continues to foot the bill. It would pay the people to put a party in power which will be represented by men who, having a living issue, will not be tempted to resurrect the dry bones of ancient history for the want of a better issue.—Quill.

"You Can't Do It, You Know."

"I don't propose to make a man out of my wife!" exclaimed a cross grained member of the Connecticut legislature, in discussing a woman suffrage bill. Representative Cleveland arose quickly and said: "It would be a blessed thing for the country if the last speaker's wife could ever make a man out of him."

ONE FROM CHICAGO.

Some of the "sticker" men emphasize the points they make by pertinent cartoons. John Danner, of Canton, O., is a fertile genius in this line. The thing of which Mr. Danner is proudest is a lift at the Christian voter who prays fervidly in prayer meetings for prohibition and then votes whisky tickets on election day.

No. 449.—A Puzzle of Sevenths.

One-seventh of currant, one-seventh of rhubarb, one-seventh of apricot, one-seventh of peaches, one-seventh of quinces, one-seventh of oranges, one-seventh of bananas, combined, will yield the plural of a dried fruit which is a general favorite, and adapted to a variety of purposes.

No. 450.—Crossing the River.

Three Englishmen traveling in Africa with three native servants come to a river which must be crossed in a canoe that will hold but two persons. The travelers suspect the fidelity of their servants, who have secretly agreed to kill them whenever there should happen to be three natives alone with two Englishmen, or two natives to one Englishman. How do they manage to cross without giving the desired opportunity to the treacherous servants?

No. 454.—Enigmatical Trees.

Tell the tree that will fight,
The tree that obeys you,
And the tree that never stands still;
The tree that got up,
The tree that was lazy,
And the tree neither up nor down hill;
The tree to be kissed,
The dandiest tree,
And what guides the ship to go forth;
The unhealthiest tree,
The tree of the people,
And the tree whose wood faces the north.

No. 455.—Anagram.

If you wish to go by rail,
Hasten to the station,
With "Train on Time" you will not fail
To reach your destination.
No farther clew than this I lend;
You'll find the answer in the "end."

No. 456.—Double Acrostic.

Words of six letters:
1. A rascal. 2. An armed fleet. 3. A small bird. 4. A voracious jumping insect. 5. To emit. 6. At a distance; within view. 7. Uses profane language.
Primals, low places; finals, rags.

No. 457.—Beheadings.

An English word, I mean to crush;
My head cut off, I am to bruise;
Cut off again, and then I'll be
A wood that carpenters much use.

No. 458.—Conundrums.

What musical instrument should always be distrusted?
How can a tall man be made short?
Why is a dog biting his own tail like a good manager?
Why does a sailor know there is a man in the moon?
Why is a camel the most irascible animal in the world?
Where can happiness always be found?
What belongs to yourself, but is used more by your friends than by yourself?

The Magic of Figures.

Ask a friend to open a book at random and select and mark any word within the first ten lines and within the tenth word from the end of the line. Now, letting your companion do the figuring, proceed to discover the word through "the magic of numbers." Ask him to double the number of the page and multiply the sum by 5, and then add 20.
Then to add the number of the line.
Then to add 5.
To multiply this sum by ten.
To add the number of the word in the line.
To subtract from this sum 250, and tell you the result.
The remainder will indicate in the unit column the number of the word; in the 10 column the number of the line, and the remaining figures the number of page.
Though you may not be able to explain this curious calculation it will always come out correctly.

Like Every One Else.

A St. Louis man named Pye left a large estate. It turns out that his relatives, like other people, were fond of Pye.—Pittsburg Chronicle.

Strange but True.

The moths have strange tastes. They frequently appear in overcoats in summer weather.—Fort Plain Free Press.

Tip to Termagants.

A "sense of humor" is so much appraised
By critics, that one might suppose it raised
To the high rank of a new cardinal virtue.
Well, 'tis a gift that helps and cannot hurt you.
But if you'd cultivate this gift delightful,
You must abandon hate, and cut the spiteful;
For whatsoever angry fools may rumor
You can't be humorous when you're out of humor!

Little Local Links in the Town's Chain of History.

QU'APPELLE.

—Farmers are busy haying.

—Crop prospects are greatly improved.

—.64 of an inch of rain fell here yesterday morning.

—Rev. A. Campbell came in from File Hills yesterday evening.

—Sheriff Murphy, of Moosomin, was in town Sunday and Monday.

—Yesterday a cricket match was begun here between the Grenfell and Qu'Appelle clubs, but as it was to be continued today we cannot give particulars this week.

HELD OVER.—We are compelled to hold over till next week the following: A letter in reference to "Wolseley and four per cent"; the report of the last meeting of Regina Presbytery, South Qu'Appelle Council minutes, and other local matter.

—Rev. Mr. Tozeland and family arrived from Ontario on Monday. He will fill the Methodist appointments on Sunday next. Bible class and Sunday School here in the morning at 11 o'clock, Edgeley at 14.30, and here at the regular evening service at 19 o'clock.

—Last evening as we went to press our citizens gathered en masse at McLane's hall to present addresses to Mr. T. T. Thomson and Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Nelson on the eve of their departure for Fort William. Further particulars next week.

—Two fine showers of blessing this week. One on Tuesday morning and the other yesterday morning, when .64 of an inch of rain fell. Everything now presents a refreshed appearance. Wheat sown on summerfallow is looking well, and promises to fill up to produce a good yield.

—St. Peter's Church Sunday School picnic will be held on Tuesday, the 23rd inst., at the College. The children assemble at St. Peter's pro-Cathedral at 14 o'clock. After a short service, the children will be driven up to the College. Members of the congregation, all children and those interested in them are invited.

—Outside of Regina, the capital of the Northwest, and Calgary, both places three times the size of this, THE QU'APPELLE PROGRESS is the largest paper published in the Northwest Territories. It gives better value for the money than any other. Subscribe for it now. Only one dollar a year.

—At the Leland; A. Crush, E. Fitzgerald, Grenfell; J. E. Fortescue and family, Isle a la Crosse; A. S. Burns, C. H. Mahon, Winnipeg; D. McDougall, J. Burett, V. S., Regina; G. M. Leishman, Montreal; J. H. W. York, London; F. O. Nichol, Touchwood Hills; T. A. Marley, Rochester, Minn.; S. Goodman, Toronto; E. Sworder, Fort Qu'Appelle; L. Schmidt, Prince Albert; J. M. McDonald, J. H. Summell, Indian Head.

—At the Queen's: A. Thompson, Iroquois, Ont.; T. A. Manly, Spencerville; W. H. Smith, Serpent River; C. G. Chisholm, W. H. Ball, F. Ashton, A. C. Faulkner, W. C. Belson, Grenfell; J. Sample, Blackwood; J. Citnten, A. Bopen, H. C. Owen, Winnipeg; H. House, Yorkton; J. H. Perkins, Pheasant Plains; H. S. Telford, Touchwood Hills; F. McIntosh, Ashcroft, B. C.; Sheriff Murphy and wife, Moosomin; C. McLean, J. Gorman, Indian Head.

—On Wednesday of last week while Mr. Alex. Smith, who lives a few miles west of here, was driving home his herd of cattle, his thoroughbred bull suddenly turned and charged at his horse goring him. The horse was knocked down falling on one of Mr. Smith's legs. The bull gored the horse a second time, disemboweling it, still it arose and ran about two hundred yards, then it fell down and died. Though only a few feet from Mr. Smith when he was on the ground, the bull did not charge at him, but turned and ran on with the herd. Mr. Smith was hurt by the fall, but not so seriously as to prevent him from going about.

—The annual picnic of the Methodist Sunday School was held on Tuesday last, at Squirrel Hills Springs. About 8.30 o'clock, it began to rain and continued heavily for about an hour, when the sky cleared. Although every arrangement had been made for an early start, the rain caused a delay and the procession did not get started before noon. The rain had cooled the atmosphere and the eight mile drive was a pleasant one. Both before the start and on the ground the Brass Band gave some choice pieces of music. The grounds had been well prepared, swings were put up and other amusements provided. At the request of Mr. James Weidman, Superintendant of the School, Mr. G. S. Davidson, M.L.A., called the gathering to order by a few remarks. Votes of thanks were then passed to the Band for their services, to Mr. and Ms. Livingstone for the use of the ground, to the various committees, to those who kindly gave the use of their teams, and to the ladies for their efforts to make the picnic a success. After tea the party returned to town, having spent a very pleasant half day's enjoyment.

PICTOU PENCILLINGS.

NOTICE.

Weights and Measures.

TRADERS, Manufacturers, and owners of Weights, Measures and Weighing Machines generally, are especially requested to read carefully the following instructions and act accordingly:—

1. The Weights and Measures Act provides for a regular biennial inspection of all Weights and Measures used for trade purposes, as well as for irregular inspection of the same, which may be made at any time when deemed necessary by the inspector, and it also imposes a heavy penalty on any trader or other person who wilfully obstructs or impedes an Inspector or Assistant Inspector in the performance of his duty under said Act, or who refuses to produce the the whole of his Weights and Measures for inspection when called upon to do so by an Inspecting Officer.

2. Every trader, manufacturer and owner of Weights, Measures and Weighing Machines, when paying moneys to Inspectors or Assistant Inspector of Weights and Measures for verification fees, is entitled to, and is especially requested to demand from the officer who makes the inspection, an official certificate ("Form O. 6" with the words "Original for the Trader," printed at the head thereof properly filled out and stamped and also at the same time to carefully ascertain whether or not the stamps attached to such certificate represent exactly in value, the amount of cash paid. Traders are requested to bear in mind that certificates of verification are of no value whatever, unless stamps covering the full amount of fees charged are attached.

3. Owners or holders of these official certificate are especially requested to keep them carefully for two years, and in order to secure their safe keeping it would be advisable to placard them in their places of business in the manner in which ordinary License certificates are done; for it must be distinctly understood that all traders who are unable to produce their properly stamped certificates, when asked to do so by an Inspector or Assistant Inspector, may, in all probability, have to pay over again their verification fees.

THE ODELL
TYPE WRITER

$15 will buy the ODELL TYPE WRITER. Warranted to do as good work as any $100 machine.

It combines SIMPLICITY with DURABILITY—SPEED, EASE OF OPERATION—wears longer without cost of repairs than any other machine, has no ink ribbon to bother the operator. It is neat, substantial, nickel-plated—perfect, and adapted to all kinds of type writing. Like a printing press, it produces Sharp, Clean, Legible Manuscripts. Two to ten copies can be made at one writing. Editors, lawyers, ministers, bankers, merchants, manufacturers, business men, etc., cannot make a better investment for $15. Any intelligent person in a week can become a good operator, or a RAPID ONE in two months.

$1,000 offered any operator who can do better work with a Type Writer than that produced by the ODELL. 25 Reliable Agents and Salesmen wanted. Special inducements to dealers. For pamphlet, giving endorsements, &c., address the
